Biography

Lisa McInnes-Smith is Queen of the corporate stage and a master of audience participation. Lisa has presented to more than one million adults across twenty-two countries and authored seven best selling books. Lisa is also the first person outside of the USA to ever be inducted into the international Speaker Hall of Fame - the highest designation possible in the speaking world. Lisa's focus is what it takes for people to 'shift' - whether it's shifting an attitude, shifting direction, shifting behaviour or shifting outcomes. She knows that people don't come to conferences just to learn; they also want to be truly engaged. Her fast-paced keynote presentations take her audience on a journey, an unforgettable experience where they are challenged to embrace a new way of thinking about, and seeing, their current world.
